

Computer Vision does not have to rely on the biggest and most expensive models to produce viable results.

Access to vision systems, especially for AI on the Edge is not always costly to get good results

